

As an Indiana resident, I am writing to argue against the Consumer Banking Association's petition to weaken the Indiana law against unwanted commercial calling to home phones.

I do not want to be bothered by sales calls at home from anyone, least of all my bank or credit card companies. Please reject their petition with stinging vitriol, so that they won't dare try to pull this sort of trick again. Thank you.